

the sadie collective addressing the pipeline & pathway for Black women in economics and related fields

Fast Facts

- Named after Dr. Sadie T.M. Alexander, America's first Black economist
- Co-founded by Fanta Traore and Anna Gifty Opoku-Agyeman in 2018
- A team of 16 Black womxn early career professionals and students
- Organizes the only international conference for Black womxn in economics and related fields
- Membership spans 30 states, 130 institutions, and 3 global regions
- Addresses the pipeline and pathway problem within economics, finance, data science, and public policy for Black womxn
- Previous partners and supporters include Urban Institute, Brookings Institution, PNC Bank, and former Federal Reserve Chair Janet Yellen

Co-Founders of the Sadie Collective

Anna Gifty
Opoku-Agyeman

Co-founder & CEO
of the Sadie Collective

Fanta Traore

Co-founder & COO
of the Sadie Collective

2020-2021 Sadie Collective Executive Team

Kadija Yilla
Chief Strategy
Officer

Kayla Jones
Chief Community
Engagement Officer

Georgeann Ryan
Chief Financial Officer

Jada Houser
Chief Design
Officer

We address the pipeline and pathway problem for Black womxn in economics and related fields in order to :

Promote Scholarship
Cultivate Ambition
Foster Community
Enable Empowerment

for Black womxn who are in the quantitative sciences (economics, finance, public policy and data science).

Our Membership in Numbers

450+ Members Worldwide
130+ Institutions | 30+ States / 3 Global Regions

2020

Conference Outcomes

270+ Black womxn and allies in attendance

90 formal mentorship relationships created

20 high school students fully sponsored to attend

30+ organizations represented at career fair

Testimonials

“I’ve been on the fence of what I’ve wanted to do with economics, but this conference really makes me believe in a career in research for economics!”

“The Sadie Collective conference planning team did a fabulous job at the planning and execution of the conference. Everyone should be pleased with the efforts put forth.”

A photograph of an event space, likely a banquet hall, with a blue-tinted overlay. In the foreground, a round table is set with a silver runner and three tall, cylindrical glass candle holders containing lit candles and dried flowers. In the background, a large screen displays a circular logo with a graduation cap and the text "Sadie T.M. Alexander Inaugural Award". A podium is visible to the left of the screen, and several people are seen in the distance. The overall atmosphere is formal and celebratory.

IN THE PRESS

Selected Media & Press Coverage

Forbes

BUSINESS
INSIDER

The New York Times

THE CHRONICLE
of Higher Education

The Economist

WSJ

QUARTZ

BuzzFeed

“The Sadie Collective was formed to encourage and support Black women as they pursue [...] careers in economics and related public policy fields. They may not face the same racism and discrimination that Alexander encountered at Penn [...] but a field like economics can still be a lonely pursuit for them.”

- Philadelphia Inquirer

[The] Sadie Collective [is] on the frontlines of changing the face of economics and supporting the Black women building careers.

- Forbes Magazine

The Sadie Collective works to connect Black women in fields like economics, finance, data science, and public policy, to name a few. By providing resources and a space to connect, the group aims to help Black women at various academic and professional levels and increase visibility in demanding fields.

- Buzzfeed

The Sadie Collective creates mentorship and professional opportunities so Black women at all stages of their career can become more visible in their field. And in a field where Black people aren't visible or are excluded, mentorship is everything.

- CNN

Our 2020-2021 Objectives

- Celebrating the 100th year anniversary of Dr. Sadie receiving her Ph.D. in Economics.
- Hosting our third annual Sadie T.M. Alexander Conference for Economics and Related Fields.
- Hosting a myriad of skills-based and professional development workshops aimed at bolstering members' technical and soft skills to ensure success within the workforce.
- Debuting a digital magazine which highlights the achievements of our members and share tools and resources such as scholarships, internship, and job placements.
- Inviting speakers from other applications of economics such as finance, data science, and policy to widen the breadth of topics covered at our conferences and gatherings hosted throughout the year.

GET INVOLVED

Fund

Engage with us in your grant-giving cycles and request proposals to fund organizational projects. Contributions can be earmarked solely for the annual conference

Host

Partner with us on professional development workshops. Potential events could span multiple days and be in-person or virtual.

Recruit

With over 450+ members, we provide access to ambitious Black womxn at our annual conference. Partner together to create internship and fellowships to bring Black womxn to your institution.

2021 Conference Sponsorship Tiers

Gold: Sponsorships of $25,000+. These donors receive an acknowledgment in the program and on the screen during the welcoming remarks, a plaque of appreciation, two free tickets for representatives to attend, and free recruitment representation.

Silver: Donations between $15,001 and $25,000. These donors receive an acknowledgment in the program, a plaque of appreciation, and two free tickets for representatives to attend.

Bronze: Donations between $10,000 and $15,000. These donors receive their name and logo in the program and a plaque of appreciation.

*Institutional Partnerships tiers vary. Please contact partner@sadiecollective.org for more information

Thank You!

Please use any of the emails below for additional information

General Inquiries | info@sadiecollective.org

Financial and Conference Sponsorship | give@sadiecollective.org

External Events, Programming, and Recruitment | partner@sadiecollective.org

2021 Conference Inquiries | sace@sadiecollective.org

Press Inquiries | press@sadiecollective.org